

Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools Level 2 Certificate

Course overview

Supporting Teaching and Learning in Schools is a combined knowledge and practical qualification for those whose roles directly support teaching and learning. This qualification is also ideal for those working as midday assistants or supervisors or who support the wider activities of schools such as before and after school clubs.

The certificate is also suitable for all support roles in schools, including voluntary / parent helpers who would like to develop an understanding of how schools operate and the role of support workers. As part of this course you will be required to undertake a placement within a school for a minimum of 8 hours per week.

You will be required produce a satisfactory Disclosure Barring Service check (DBS). If your employer does not apply for this on your behalf, the college can make the application for you but there will be a charge of £65.

What will I study?

You will study and develop skills covering the following areas (totaling 30 credits):

Child and Young Person Development

You will gain knowledge of the main stages of child development.

Communication and Professional Relationships with Children, Young People and Adults

How successful relationships have a positive effect on learning and behavior.
Listening and responding skills.

Safeguarding the welfare of Children and Young People

The fundamentals of Safeguarding
Your safeguarding responsibilities

Assessment method

This course is assessed by you creating an e-portfolio of evidence that demonstrates your knowledge, skills and understanding of the topics covered. You will be appointed an assessor, who will visit you in your workplace to carry out observations of your work. They will also discuss your work as a teaching assistant and you will complete log sheets. Assignments can be completed using a range of methods including:

- written assignments
- presentations
- reflective diary / accounts
- direct observations
- professional discussions
- witness testimonies
